LODGE MAKES PEACE TREATY THE CHIEF ISSUE IN SOUNDING KEY-NOTE AT G. O. P. CONVENTION

"Country Must Drive Wilson Dynasty From Power And Defeat The League of Nations As Planned," Says Senator.

BITTERLY ARRAIGNS THE WILSON ADMINISTRATION

"Firm Hand Necessary in Dealing With Mexican Problem" Says Lodge.

High Cost of Living Comes In For Share of Discussion In Keynote Speech.

Believes Country Will Stand By Senate's Refusal To Adopt Treaty.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, June 8.—The country must drive President Wilson and his "dynasty" from power and defeat the League of Nations as he desires it, declared Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, temporary chairman of the Republican National Convention, in his keynote address here today.

Defending the Senate's opposition to the treaty of peace as a high and patriotic duty, the Senator flung down this gauntlet:

"We make the issue; we ask approbation for what we have done. The people will now tell us what they think of Mr. Wilson's League and the sacrifice of America."

While emphasizing the point that around the League must be waged the 1920 Presidential campaign, and devoting much of his speech to arraignment of the Wilson administration, the Senator found time to lay before the delegates the stand of the Republican Party on other salient problems facing the nation.

The Mexican Problem.

Chief among these was Mexico. Declaring it was time for the United States to take a firm hand in things Mexican and end the "disgraceful record" of the last seven years, Senator Lodge urged that this country let the Mexicans choose as their president some strong and upright man who is friendly to the United States and determined to establish order and then lend him a real and cordial support.

"Mexico lies at our doors," he declared. "It is a primary duty for us to deal with it under the Monroe doctrine, but nothing has been done and yet we are asked to take a mandate for Armenia."

Salient points made by Senator Lodge were:

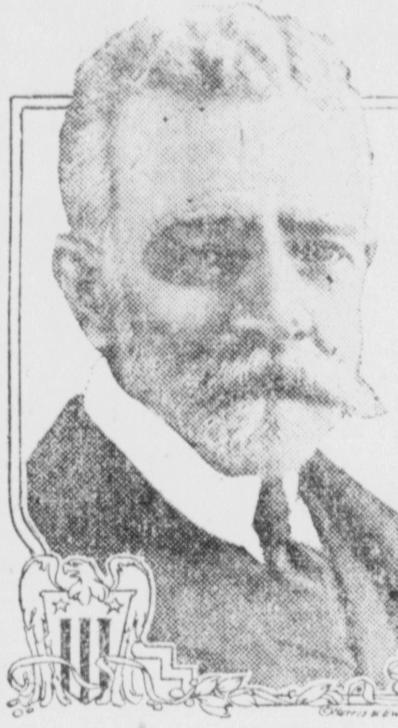

Hits Wilson "Dynasty."

Mr. Wilson and his dynasty, his heirs and assigns, or anybody that is his, anybody who with bent knee has served his purposes, must be driven from all control, from all influence upon the Government of the United States.

"They must be driven from office and power, not because they are Democrats, but because Mr. Wilson stands for a theory of administration and government which is not American.

"Mr. Wilson and the autocracy he represents, and all which those who believe in his doctrines and share his spirit represent, must be put aside

PLATFORM BUILDERS PROGRESS

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, June 7.—Republican platform builders reported substantial progress today on tentative drafts, with promise of unusually quick action by the resolutions committee as a result of preliminary work.

Group differences remained but leaders of all factions said there were higher hopes of an entire "harmony platform" after the planks are smoothed and the shaving swept out in committee.

The Supreme Court's decision on prohibition brought forth renewed discussions of a prohibition plank. Many party leaders, however, are disposed to keep the platform silent on prohibition.

SEEK CRIMINAL WHO ATTACKED KENMORE CHILD

Citizens and Police of Small Town Aroused Over Crime Revealed.

Young Man Suspected And A Search Is Made—The Child May Die.

(By Associated Press)

Akron, Ohio, June 8.—Kenmore citizens and police are aroused over an attack upon three-year-old Josephine Kentkothen, who was found bound hand and foot in an outhouse in the rear of a grocery store at Kenmore.

Her screams attracted the attention of a sick neighbor woman, who called the police.

The child, unclothed and bound hand and foot, was found crowded between timbers of the outhouse. She told the police that a young man imprisoned her there after binding and attacking her. Her condition is serious.

REFUSES TO SUPPORT COX

(By Associated Press)

Warren, Ohio, June 8.—W. B. Kilpatrick, of this city, a delegate to the Democratic National Convention at San Francisco, has announced he will not attend the convention, as he cannot support Governor Cox because of the latter's alleged stand in favor of the wets.

MASKED BAND LOOTS A BANK

(By Associated Press)

Pittsburgh, June 8.—Masked bandits this morning entered the Hayes National Bank in Hayes, Pennsylvania, ten miles from Pittsburgh, and after locking the cashier in the vault, looted the bank. The band escaped in the direction of Pittsburgh.

Anti-Johnson Man On California Delegation Gets The Cold Shoulder.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, June 8.—The Republican National Convention was actually called to order at 11:34 a. m., soon after Chairman Hays appeared on the platform and was greeted with rounds of applause.

Chairman Hays brought down the gavel with a whack and the convention came quickly to order. Bishop Chas. Woodcock, of Louisville, Ky., offered the opening prayer.

"The Republican party has met in this free and open convention," said Chairman Hays, "to accept from the people a mandate for the government of the United States. As chairman of your national committee I report progress. By next November the majority of the republican party should be at least 3,000,000.

"In spirit I report more than progress; I report fulfillment. The great party of the Union has become a union. It shall continue so. There will be no bolts in this convention."

Chairman Hays then introduced Senator Lodge as the temporary chairman and the convention let out more cheers.

Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was among the early platform arrivals. As the convention formed the band played "The Sunshine of Your Smile" but very few people were smiling. On every hand there were evidence of the newer generation in politics. They included sons of Theodore Roosevelt, Senator Wood, the late Senator Aldrich and a grandson of James G. Blaine who was wearing the badge of sergeant-at-arms.

Nicholas Butler, of New York, was the only candidate seen on the floor. He was chatting with the delegates from New York.

Friends of Senator Johnson in a majority on the California delegation were opposed to re-electing Wm. H. Crocker as national committeeman until all ballots on president at least had been passed. In the past Mr. Crocker has been prominent in the anti-Johnson wing in California.

It also was reported that some of Senator Johnson's friends had urged supplanting of Mr. Crocker by a man friendly to William Randolph Hearst, whose newspapers support Johnson, but opposition was said to have caused abandonment of the move and the agreement to let the national committee election go temporarily. Considerable feeling among the California delegates was reported.

LODGE WILL CONTINUE TO PRESIDE

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, June 8.—The general understanding was that an agreement would be made to accept the temporary convention organization and chairman as the permanent one, thus continuing the gavel in the hands of Senator Lodge.

Chairman Lodge's address was punctuated by cheering and applause and most loudly when he referred to the republican party of 1860 and declared it must again come forward for a like service to the country.

Roars of cheers and continued applause marked Chairman Lodge's declaration that everyone connected with the "dynasty of Woodrow Wilson" must be driven from power.

"The defeat of the present administration," said Senator Lodge, "transcends every other question. The grounds thus cleared it becomes our duty as Americans to reinstate several fundamental principles which have been both shocked and invaded."

Bryan Protests.

Wm. J. Bryan, who from his seat in the press stand listened intensely to Senator Lodge's hot denunciation of "Mr. Wilson and his associates," who he declared, had attempted to "drain us from the path of Washington, Lincoln and Roosevelt."

Mr. Bryan stroked his chin thoughtfully but maintained a "poker face" throughout.

Thousands Clamor For Admittance to "Big Show" In Chicago Coliseum.

ACTIVITIES MOVE OUT OF THE HOTELS

Routine Work Is Taken Up In First Formal Session of G. O. P. Convention.

Triangular Deadlock On Johnson, Lowden and Wood Anticipated On First Ballot

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, June 8.—Hours before the doors were opened at the big coliseum today, thousands of persons were waiting and hoping to get in for a look at the unbossed Republican national convention.

Only a fraction of those who applied for seats could be admitted, despite the coliseum's capacity for more than 10,000.

Political activities moved out of the hotel districts and into the coliseum itself with the assembling of the first session. It was the first opportunity for the various managers to meet the delegates altogether; and instead of buttonholing delegates singly and in groups, they went after them in delegations.

Today's proceedings in the hall had little to do with the actual nomination. They were merely routine, but indispensable preliminaries to the sessions to follow.

True, the preliminaries include the keynote speech by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, temporary chairman, and that is the really big business of the first day. Whether the temporary organization with Senator Lodge as chairman is to be made the permanent one was still undetermined today.

A triangular deadlock between Wood, Lowden and Johnson still appeared the almost certain result to come on the first trial of voting strength Wednesday or Thursday, with probably more than a score of favorite sons, dark horses or individual selections sharing more than half of the votes.

The crisp, cool weather which kept Chicago chilly all during pre-convention week suddenly disappeared today, and the sun came out with a blistering blast and flooded the town with a temperature which sent the thermometers bounding upward.

The convention actually opened its first session at 11 o'clock, Chicago time.

(By Associated Press)

Chicago, June 8.—The first man in the convention to sit on a tack actually rather than politically was a delegate from Arkansas, who found one in his chair.

An accommodating assistant sergeant-at-arms removed it.

The delegate told the colleague he had come to the convention expecting a lively fight but had not expected to be attacked from the rear.

Other Communities Demand Safe Milk

Down at Cincinnati Dr. Cravens, chief medical director of the health department, will open pure milk stations. What kind of milk will be dispensed? According to the statement, it will be "Certified Milk."

At a recent meeting of state health authorities in Columbus, statistics were presented showing only one baby died in Cincinnati in 1910 to three babies who died in 1910. Health Commissioner Peters attributed the improvement to the campaign for pure milk.

THE ABOVE ARE FACTS, FOLKS, AND ARE WORTHY OF ATTENTION AND CONSIDERATION. BUT YOU MAY ASK HOW OUR LOCAL COMMUNITY MAY BENEFIT BY THESE FACTS. SIMPLY BY INSISTING THAT YOUR MILK SUPPLY BE MADE SAFE. And the building process has not been alone of our own efforts—the tires we have sold have had much to do with it. It is a significant fact that we today are selling tires we have sold for years. We have had no occasion to change, for it would be poor business indeed to handle goods one's customers did not ask for.

Over and over, time after time, year in and year out, the same car owners come here for DEPENDABLE TIRES—like they bought the last time. They have learned from experience that the worth of a tire is not determined by the length of the mileage guarantee. They know it is.

WHAT'S BUILT INTO THE TIRE THAT DETERMINES ITS WORTH

Road service, and nothing else, proves just how good the tire is, and to save your life you can't get more road service out of it than the manufacturer put in. COUNCIL FIXES NEW WATER RATE FOR TWO YEARS

Slight Reductions Made in Forty Percent Increase Asked By Water Company.

Annual Budget and Semi-Annual Appropriation Ordinances Passed.

Many Other Matters of Importance Considered And Acted Upon.

The regular session of the city council was replete with business from the moment it convened until it adjourned about ten o'clock, many important measures coming up for action, including the new water rate ordinance, semi-annual appropriation ordinance and annual budget, a new traffic ordinance, street improvements, payment for street work under way and numerous other matters of more or less importance.

A petition to pave Broadway street, North to Hopkins street, was presented by C. P. Ballard and placed on file. Three petitions presented by Attorney H. M. Rankin for improving Symon street, East to the southern terminus also were placed on file.

Attorney Rankin also presented an application from Confidence Lodge, Knights of Pythias, for use of the streets the week of Sept. 13th for holding a fall festival and pumpkin show. Permission was granted to place booths and places of amusement

Traffic Ordinance

Next submitted was a new traffic ordinance, virtually the same as previous ordinances except the rate of speed for motor driven vehicles was changed to conform to the change made in the state law, permitting speed of 15 and 20 miles—15 in congested district and 20 in residence district except with in two squares of any school building. Fines from $1 to $100 are provided for violations.

Fire Department Changes

An ordinance fixing the number of firemen at one chief and five regular firemen, two of whom must be competent to operate the pump and motor vehicles was passed, with $100 per month for the fire chief and $95 for other firemen. The firemen must also do police duty when directed by the Safety Director.

New Water Rates

The new water rate contract for a period of two years was accepted by unanimous vote. It does not provide for furnishing either "a reasonably abundant supply" or "abundant supply" as in previous contracts.

Few changes were made over the original contract after discussion at the last session of council, and represents an increase of upwards of 40 percent over the old rates, with minimum meter rates increased 100 percent. The flat rate minimum is 50 cents per month.

Only Over The Long Road

The decision of the Supreme Court of the United States announced Monday, unequivocally, emphatically and unanimously holding that the prohibition amendment to the federal constitution was valid, that the prohibition enforcement law was not, in any particular, in conflict with the provisions of the federal constitution, dismissing injunctions against enforcement of the prohibition amendment laws where granted by state courts or inferior federal courts seems to forever settle all disputes regarding the present "dry" condition.

No wonder one of the attorneys for those who were seeking in various ways to annul or modify the amendment and the law raised his hands to gesture and his voice to announce the unconditional surrender of the "wets."

It is the most sweeping and emphatic decision announced by the court in years. In one decision, apparently every contention, supposedly real or known to be technical, seems to have been disposed of and the wet interests are left not one prop upon which to erect another contest structure.

The doors of the courts seem to have been closed and barred to those who would question the validity of the prohibition amendment. It is a great moral victory and the emphatic announcement on all contentions will do much to clarify conditions.

The decision marks the culmination of a great moral movement and leaves to those who would take a backward step only the long tedious pathway over which the reformers have so long, so tirelessly, so patiently and so faithfully traveled to reach the entrenchments provided by constitutional provisions and congressional enactment.

There was no short cut—no easy way—for those who have struggled forward to these better days and there is no easy way and no short cut now for those who would undo that which has been so laboriously accomplished.

The ballot box, the legislatures and the halls of Congress alone are available now to the anti-prohibition forces and while reforms may sometimes be slow in coming through those agencies it seems safe to assert that the undoing of reforms once accomplished through them will never come about.

So far as this nation of ours is concerned the liquor question seems settled for all time.

Neither one of the major political parties could afford now to champion so hopeless a cause and the likelihood of a new party fighting its way through to final victory with the keystone of its arch the undoing of a great reform, seems nil.

The decision will do much too, coming at this time, to strengthen any weak-kneed brethren among the delegates to Chicago or to San Francisco.

Our Big City

The final figures of the census department show Greater New York City proper a population of 5,621,151, and that it is, probably, the largest city in the world. The metropolitan district is much larger, perhaps numbering more than eight million people.

Present figures show that New York City has a population exceeding that of any state in the Union, except Pennsylvania, according to the census of ten years ago.

We can't avoid a thrill of pride when we realize that this nation can boast the most populous city in all the world.

It is characteristic of every loyal American to desire to outstrip all rivals. We want the biggest and the best but sometimes in our enthusiasm we confuse the biggest with the best and, for a time lose our bearings.

While we, like nearly all other American citizens, are proud of our "biggest" city, proud that the total figures of the census takers show New York to be larger than the metropolis of the British Empire, yet we cannot avoid regret over the very pronounced trend from the country districts which it shows.

England is small—a nation of traders and manufacturers—and the density of population in the centers does not portend what it does in this great agricultural land of ours.

Yet we confess that had the census takers shown our great metropolis to have decreased in population we would not have felt nearly so proud as we do now. Sometimes the best things are not always the most pleasing for the moment.

POETRY FOR TODAY

THE HAUNTED HOUSE

It glimmers whitely through the twi-light rains,
A ghostly house, untenanted and bare;
No cheery lamp-ray lights its staring panes,
No kindly hearth fire warms its musty air.
Knee-high, lush grasses brush its idle door,
Forgotten flowers bloom forlornly sweet.

The hand that planted them returns no more—
In vain does Spring her tender spell repeat.

And yet dear voices sound through peaceful eyes,
Gay laughter rings down intervening years.

The beaded strand of merry hours retrieves
One saddened moment, drench with showery tears.

Delicious fragrances from fruity trees—
White honeysuckle, sweeter than its name—

My memory lays hold on all of these,
For by their aid I can the past reclaim.

JOHNSON MUST RISK ALL ON LEAGUE PLANK

Sullivan Thinks The Chance of California is Remote One

CREDITS "IRRECONCILABLES"

With Foreseeing The Important Part League Plan Would Play in Convention.

BY MARK SULLIVAN

(Copyright 1920)

Chicago, June 6th—It has been said in these dispatches that Johnson's role in the convention, and his chances of getting the nomination, which chances, in your correspondent's judgment are remote, are wholly dependent on what happens when the convention takes up the writing of the League of Nations plank in the platform.

In order to clarify this relation between the League of Nations issue and Johnson's position in the convention, let us follow that relation briefly from its beginning.

When Johnson and the little group of Senators associated with him determined, a year ago, to make the fight against the League of Nations, they foresaw that the fight would last into the Presidential year and would figure in the campaign. Give credit to their political acumen for foreseeing that; almost no one else did. Foreseeing it, they made, in a loose way, certain plans among themselves for the Presidency. These plans at that time contemplated giving the nomination to Senator Knox of Pennsylvania. So far as Johnson was in their plans at all, it was as Vice President, Knox and Johnson were to be the anti-League ticket. It was discussed among them, and Knox was told that he would be their candidate. He paid but slight attention to it, for his health is not good, and his whole attitude toward the Presidency was rather indifferent. With the others, however, the plan was concrete and important. They did not dream at that time that Johnson could be made a Presidential possibility. They knew that Knox could; they knew that Knox would be acceptable to the conservative East and to the Old Guard leaders. They realized, of course, that by reason of his location and his former business associations, he would not be acceptable to the Progressives of the West and Middle West. But they figured that they themselves, as Progressives, could by endorsing him take the curse of the East off him.

At one time or another it figured more or less definitely in their plans that Borah, Johnson and the other Progressives of the West should campaign for him. It sounds sensational, and your correspondent has only second-hand authority for saying it, but he is nevertheless confident that Knox would be acceptable to such thorough-going Progressives as Senator Norris, of Nebraska, Senator Gronna, of North Dakota, and, even—most surprising of all—Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin. The reason for this extraordinary bed fellowship of the most reactionary East and the most radical West lies wholly in the common devotion to the cause of defeating the League of Nations. In the eyes of these Western Progressives and radical leaders, all the old economic issues which had divided them from Knox in the past, were overcome by what was, in their eyes, the predominant issue of the League of Nations. The Knox that was anathema to them as Progressives was to be their Presidential favorite as Irreconcilables.

This was the intention in the beginning. Then, as the fight against the League of Nations developed, Johnson was picked to make speeches throughout the country against it. He was the one chosen to follow President Wilson through the country when the latter was making speeches in behalf of the League of Nations. Johnson was selected and provided with funds to make the trip. He made the trip, and as a speechmaker he developed a success which rather changed the course of events. Originally intended as only the ballyhoo man of the League of Nations fight, as the advance agent of Knox, the remarkable success which attended Johnson caused him to become the main show.

That was the situation when, in April, Penrose threw Knox's hat into the ring. That act on Penrose's part was not done through understanding with the Progressive Senators, who were the real backers of Knox. Penrose did it for personal reasons connected with the politics of his own State. The intention of the real backers of Knox had been to hold his name back until the convention should meet, and until there should be an opening for dark horses. It was the intention that at that time Knox should be introduced to the convention by some of the Progressives; and that his candidacy should be put before the convention and before the country under wholly Progressive auspices.

That really has been the situation until recently. Of course, Johnson's success in the primaries altered the situation somewhat. Probably he reached a point when he felt with good reason that he had enough momentum to be the anti-League of Nations candidate himself and that there was no need to press that position on the comparatively indifferent and even unwilling, Knox. That is the true relation of Johnson to the situation. That is the basis of the Knox and Johnson ticket so frequently hinted in the cloak-room gossip of the Senate. That suggestion has been received my many news papers with jeering scorn. To those who ridicule the idea, your correspondent can only record the fact that it has back of it the aggregate of those Senatorial brains that have led the fight against the League. That these brains are considerable in the field of politics is, Clothes may make the actress and proved by the success of their anti-League fight.

What will happen now depends wholly on what is done about the League of Nations in the platform. Also, to a certain extent, the Knox part of the scheme may be affected by the illness of Penrose and the other recent events in Pennsylvania politics attendant upon Penrose's loss of power. Johnson here in Chicago, we all expect, will fight for a League of Nations plank acceptable to him. If that is given to him in the shape of an artfully worded compromise that endorses both him and Lodge, he may take his elimination from the Presidency gracefully, and there may be no explosion. But if the convention attempts to endorse the League with the Lodge reservations in such a way as to repudiate Johnson and his last ditchers, then a dramatic collision may occur.

June and roses and the effective setting of one of Washington's handsomest homes were in combine to make the wedding of Miss Mary Jane Collins and Mr. Ralph Lankton McKay, of Bluffton, Ind., one of the most beautiful nuptial events of the season, taking place Monday afternoon at two o'clock at the home of her Uncle and Aunt, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Hodson.

The spacious rooms were like gardens in their wealth of summer bloom and there was a complete absence of formality, the bride and bride-groom greeting the guests with Dr. and Mrs. Hodson the bride's mother, Mrs. G. W. Collins, and the bride-groom's parents, Dr. and Mrs. O. R. McKay. Also in the receiving line were Miss Adeline McKay of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Frank May of Steubenville, and Miss Lorraine Hanks, of Wilmington.

With them were assembled forty-five guests, who enjoyed a lovely program of Victrola music before the young couple took their places in the archway between the reception hall and living room.

Wicker floor vases filled with gladioli and white fressias, rose like sentinels on either side of the arch and ropes of smilax formed graceful festoons over head, with suspended from the center a basket of white straw and maline filled with roses.

Roma Angelina Woodmansee the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn H. Woodmansee, preceded the bride and bride-groom—an adorable little ring-bearer in fluffy white organdie, with pink sash.

The bride, fair and sweet, made a picture in tune with the month of roses. She wore a gown of white organdie, with short sleeves and round neck; a corsage bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas and necklace of pearls.

There was unusual impressiveness in the double ring ceremony performed by Rev. K. B. Alexander, assisted by the groom's father, Dr. O. R. McKay of Bluffton, Ind., and a charming suggestion in the shower of rose petals which descended upon the young couple as Mrs. Hodson pulled the ribbons attached to the basket following the last words of the marriage service. During the ceremony there was the soft under-tone of violin music—Joseph Helfetz' beautiful interpretation of "On Wings of Love."

After congratulations a wedding collation was served, the pink and white color scheme prettily carried out.

The bride divided her bouquet between the two mothers.

Amid a shower of confetti the young couple left on the 3:30 B. and O. train for LaFayette, Ind., and leave the last of the week for their future home in Forest City, Neb. The bride's going away suit was of blue serge, white georgette blouse, with becoming hat of black horse-hair braid, edged with pink roses veiled in maline, brown shoes and gloves.

Mrs. Hodson received in an elaborate gown of green messaline and cream lace. The bride's mother wore a graceful gown of black crepe de chine and the bride-groom's mother dark blue taffeta.

All manner of handsome wedding gifts were received.

All manner of good wishes follow the young couple on their wedding journey.

The bride is an exceptionally bright and interesting girl, a graduate of Ohio University and member of the Alpha Delta Fraternity. Upon the completion of her university course she taught Art in the Urbana Schools and later went to Pittsburgh to take a course at the Carnegie School of Technology and during the war filled the position of Assistant District Metallogist. Last year she taught Art in the schools of Wingate, Ind. Although so much away from this city, it has remained her home town and here are the friends of her closest intimacy.

The bride-groom was graduated in civil engineering from Purdue University and is a member of the Delta Upsilon Fraternity. He spent two years in service in France.

Mr. McKay takes his bride to Forest City, Neb., as their future home, having accepted an excellent position with the Missouri Pacific railroad.

An attractive group of the young women of Grace Church gathered at the hospitable home of Mrs. Ellison, South Fayette, on Monday evening to celebrate the birthday of mother W. H. M. S.

The occasion was full of interest and reflects credit on the hostesses: Mesdames Jay Ellison, Ethel McElwain, Rose Hughey, Herbert Pierre, Herbert Freyman, and Miss Miller.

The mother of the house Mrs. Corbin was also a valuable assistant.

The lesson program brought out interesting bits of information concerning the mountaineers. The Scripture lesson which preceded gave mention of the Mt. Ararat, Mt. Moriah, and Mt. Calvary.

Officers selected for the coming year are as follows:

President, Irene Tobin; Secretary, Ethel McElwain; Treasurer, May Ellison; Literature Margaret Johnson, Mite Boxes, Frances Merriweather.

Mrs. Ellison gave a good report of the District Meeting at London, and Mesdames Dora Mae Stewart and Lizzie Ellen Green contributed a fine duet with Mrs. Alexander at the piano.

The dances and tableaux combine to make the play a thing of beauty that offers an unusual treat in this town minus a theater.

The peppy High School Girls of the Y. W. C. A. breakfasted at Rock Mills at six o'clock Tuesday morning.

The glorious morning, the appetizing breakfast cooked in the woods and the high spirits of twenty-five girls combined to make the affair uncommonly jolly.

Movie Men Busy.

Before Senator Lodge got under way with his keynote speech the motion picture men turned on a battery of strong lights focused on Senator Lodge but which cast an intense glare in the faces of the delegates and spectators. There was such insistent objection so loudly voiced they had to be turned out and Senator Lodge went ahead with his prepared address, reading from manuscript.

Old Guard Early.

Unlike former conventions the old guard came early. In the old days they were the last to arrive. As many of the leaders took their seats the band played a mournful air.

There were many women delegates and alternates on the floor.

The seating arrangements are altogether different from those of four years ago.

SPENDS LONELY NIGHT CHAINED IN GRAVEYARD

Chained to a tree in Washington cemetery so securely that there was no escape, Jack Wolfe, member of the Washington Fire Department six feet tall, weight 218 in fighting trim, Monday evening offered to "sacrifice him on the altar of scientific research" and made long strides in dispelling the idea of returned spirits or ghosts in Fayette county.

At a few minutes before eleven o'clock Monday night a long seven passenger Buick touring car glided out of an alley on its way to the cemetery but had hardly started to the scene before two small cars took up the chase to see that Wolfe was not deposited in some cemetery other than the local one. The chase soon settled down to one car and this one, containing three girls and two young men, was a persistent hanger on.

As the town clock neared the largest figures on the dial the big car made a dash for the Washington cemetery and was soon safe on the gravel drive while the iron gates clanged behind. Wolfe selected a "nice, quiet spot" under a drooping willow, whose low hanging branches provided a canopy. He was chained to this tree. He prepared for the vigil and a faint good night was heard at the road as the car left for town and everything was dark. The low hanging moon looked through a bloody veil while the waters of Paint creek licked at the fog.

How he was stalked by several persons, one with a gun, and was finally forced to fire his revolver to scare off the intruders, who ran to the fence and there fired twenty-one shots is told in a most modest manner by Jack himself. He says:

"As I was the accepted applicant of Mr. Chas. B. Johnson who made the offer to any one who would sleep in the cemetery over night for the benefit of scientific research, I will gladly give the following information concerning same."

"Allowed to choose my own sleeping place, I selected a spot near the pond, thinking the frogs would break the monotony and keep me company. Although I was not at all afraid, I will have to say some strange feeling came over me when I found I was wide awake and could not go to sleep. While I lay thinking I discovered that my cot was in the middle of a strange white-something. While I was trying to give some logical reason for it, having heard of will-o'-the-wisp and such things, and feeling that I had been lucky enough to see something very few folks ever have a chance to see, I was rather startled to hear sounds which my better judgment told me were made by human beings.

Such groans, sighs, mumbles, etc., I never heard before so springing to my feet, gun in hand, I turned my spot light in the face of a bunch of Washington boys, whose own scientific ideas are so vague as to possess no psychic value. After making a dismally play of my gun and calling out the names of a few of these fellows they quickly dispersed and I again lay down to quiet and thought.

"I really believe I was lucky enough to see a real will-o'-the-wisp, but whether or not there is such a thing as a ghost or returned spirit I could not say, as I passed the remainder of the night uneventful until released at half past four o'clock Tuesday morning by a representative of The Herald.

JACK WOLFE."

STATE BUREAU STARTS DRIVE IN JEFFERSON

What promises to be one of the greatest campaigns ever conducted in Fayette county was launched in Jefferson township Tuesday morning when a number of representatives of the State Farm Bureau Federation started with the same number of real live citizens of Jefferson township in their drive for members to the Farm Bureau Federation.

The interest of Fayette county farmers in this move for their interests, is as great as it has been anywhere else in the state or nation. Hays Dill, of the campaign committee states that a report from the solicitors at noon Tuesday was that success had been one hundred per cent for the one-half day effort. The farmers are not only interested in this campaign but are eager to align themselves with it and boost also, it is declared.

It is reported that the campaign committee has been in touch with the sheriff and the police force to see that the election is conducted fairly and honestly.

Roy Busick, who plead guilty to a charge of auto theft, when arraigned in Common Pleas Court last Thursday afternoon, was escorted to the Ohio Penitentiary Monday morning by Sheriff N. B. Hall to begin the indeterminate sentence given him by Judge Frank G. Carpenter.

BEAUTIFUL PAGEANT TWO NIGHTS THIS WEEK

The Pageant of the Seasons, which will be put on by the Mothers Circle high school auditorium Thursday and Friday nights of this week, is pronounced by those who have seen the rehearsals as one of the most beautiful exhibitions of tableaux and fancy dances ever seen in Washington.

Miss Myrtle McCoy is training the children, many of whom were in her dancing classes this week. The costumes are gorgeous.

There has been a splendid seat sale although there are still many desirable ones in the plat.

What Items Make Up the Cost of a Modern Home?

We often hear the remark that lumber is too high to build a home, but lumber and millwork are not the only items that enter into the cost of a modern residence.

Below we give you the figures on a two story square type of house containing seven rooms, sleeping porch, and bath. It is one of the famous Curtis Plans, their Banner C-103.

|-------------------------------|-----------|
| Lumber and Millwork | $3241.16 |
| Carpenter Labor | 800.00 |
| Heating and Plumbing | 729.00 |
| Excavating and Basement Walls | 184.00 |
| Labor on Chimney | 30.00 |
| Plastering, Lath included | 499.50 |
| Total | $5480.66 |

You will observe that the item of Lumber and Mill Work figures less than 60 percent of the total cost of the house. The plan call for an all frame structure, with sheathed walls covered with red cedar lap siding.

We have the photograph and floor plans of Banner C-103 in our office, and if interested, would be glad to have you call on us for further information.

We will guarantee the above estimate to complete the house with the exception of the electric wiring and painting.

CHILDREN'S DAY

The Children's day program drew a splendid audience to the M. P. church in Milledgeville Sunday night, and proved to be one of the most irresistible children's entertainment ever given here.

Each child did creditable work in their assigned parts. The music by the choir was exceedingly well rendered, with Mrs. Mable Merchant and Miss Lola Armstrong of Jeffersonville, assisting the church orchestra and Ruth Gale the winsome little daughter of Rev. Gale of Washington C. H., sang a pretty solo.

The tableau, "The Coming of Summer" was originally arranged by Mrs. Wm. Kerns (nee Gladys Hubbard) and put on under her personal supervision. It was in three parts. The first part, "Winter," was represented by Miss Olevia East. "Spring" was also represented by Miss East and was supported by Miss Leona Bostwick as a violet and Miss Hazel Eckle as a lily. "Summer" was represented by the girls of the Sunday School as flowers, daisies, carnations, chrysanthemums, blue bells and other summer flowers, over which fitted little yellow butterfiles. The tableau made a beautiful picture and the entire entertainment was very good.

ROGERS CHAPEL RALLY DAY A BIG SUCCESS

Sunday was rally day at Rogers Chapel A. M. E. Church. It marked the close of one of the most successful endeavors in the history of the church.

With a view totaling the necessary funds to remodel and improve the church property on North Main street the campaign was inaugurated and conducted and the success of the movement carries bright promise for realization of the hopes of those who desire the improvement of the valuable church home.

The pastor, members and the various auxiliaries take this opportunity to thank the friends of Rogers Chapel for their loyal help in this effort.

When the reports were in from the various auxiliaries Sunday night the total reached the sum of $1027.99, in cash with a number of individual pledges which have not been paid. When these are all in it is believed that the sum will be substantially increased. There are those who believe that Sunday's effort marks a new epoch in the history of Rogers Chapel Church and that within the near future the present building will be so improved in general appearance that it will be a credit to the Christian people of Washington and an asset to the splendid community in which it is located.

Bids are now being received from the contractors and the work of repairing will begin at once.

The pastor, members and the various auxiliaries take this opportunity to thank the friends of Rogers Chapel for their loyal help in this effort.

UNUSUAL CEREMONY AT GRACE CHURCH

A baptismal ceremony out of the ordinary was held at Grace M. E. Church Sunday morning immediately following the usual services, when two children, the survivors of triplets born six years ago to Mr. and Mrs. Strader Fletcher, were baptized.

It was the sixth anniversary of the birth of the two little girls, Anna Louise and Beatrice Pauline, their little triplet brother having died when a few days old.

The two children, who were accompanied by their father bore such a marked resemblance that it was nearly impossible to tell which was Anna and which Beatrice.
